Section E: Comprehension Passage (10 marks)

Read the passage below and answer Questions 27 to 31.

One night, the little brown rabbit was sleeping soundly in her basket next to her owner, Susan. She had the strangest dream. In her dream, she became Susan.

In the morning, she dressed herself in Susan's uniform and went downstairs. Breakfast was on the table and there was plenty of food. Susan's mother prepared bacon, fried eggs and toast. She was delighted and ate heartily. She had never tasted bacon before. It was delicious.

She attended school for the first time. She listened to the stories told by the teachers and played with friends at the playground during recess. At the end of the day, she enjoyed the day but was exhausted.

"What a busy day I had," she thought as she woke up from her dream. "I think I prefer to be a rabbit."
