SECTION G: COMPREHENSION (10m)

Read the passage below carefully.

Jenny's grandfather is seventy years old. Although he is old, he is healthy and strong. Jenny calls him Ah Gong.

Every Saturday morning, Jenny goes to the market with Ah Gong. The most interesting part is to learn how to choose fresh fish. Ah Gong teaches her to look at the eyes of the fish. They must be bright and not dull-looking. Its body must also be firm and not too soft.

Each visit to the market is like a learning journey for Jenny. She always looks forward to going to the market with Ah Gong. She also notices that he is well liked by the stallholders. Ah Gong enjoys talking to Mr Lim, the fishmonger. They would share ideas on how to prepare some food. They also talk about their hobbies and grandchildren.

Ah Gong cooks dinner for Jenny and her family every Saturday evening. They love the food he cooks very much because he is a skilful cook.

Besides learning how to choose fresh food in the market, Jenny has also learnt how to prepare some simple dishes from Ah Gong. He is her great teacher.
