Section H: Comprehension (Selected Response) (8 marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

My sister, Emily, snores. Sometimes, she sounds like she is blowing her nose. Last night was the loudest night ever. I tried sleeping with my earmuffs on but they were very uncomfortable.

I thought about how to solve my problem all day. During dinner, I asked Mother, "May I move into the guest room? Emily snores so loudly that I can't sleep!"

"I would love to have my own room too. Jessica is messy," Emily complained.

After dinner, I raced upstairs to our room to pack. Emily followed. She shook her head as she picked up my pyjamas from the floor and handed it to me. Then, I made my way to the guest room excitedly.

At nine o'clock, Mother tucked me into bed. Just then, I heard a strange noise. Before Mother left, she explained that it was only the whirring of the ceiling fan. I wondered why I had never heard it before. My new room was almost pitch black. Staring at the wardrobe door, I wondered what scary monsters hid in there. I tossed and turned in bed. There were still many hours until morning. I thought about Emily and how she would always comfort me when I had a bad dream. We would also whisper secrets late at night. I started to miss being in the same room as Emily.

Suddenly, the door opened. Looking up, I broke into a smile as I saw Emily standing in the doorway with my teddy bear. I eagerly asked Emily to climb into bed with me. I learnt that night that I love Emily – even when she snores. 20

Section I: Comprehension (Open-Ended) (8 marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer questions 43 to 47.

One day, on my way back from school, I saw an old man sitting on a stool next to several pairs of second-hand shoes. He seemed to have been sitting there for a long while. He appeared tired as he watched the passers-by walk past him. Nobody seemed interested to buy those shoes.

Then, a little girl walked towards the old man. She asked him, "May I help to polish your shoes to earn some money?" That old man sympathised with the shabbily-dressed girl. He smiled and gave her a shoe to polish.

Curious, the old man asked, "Why do you need the money?"

"I'm doing this so I can earn enough to buy a new school uniform for my brother," the girl explained. When the old man heard her heartwarming explanation, tears brimmed in his eyes.

The old man said, "Oh, little girl. Stop doing this and come with me. I'll buy your brother a uniform."

I followed them as they walked to the market. When they reached the store, the old man did what he had promised earlier. The girl was delighted and exclaimed, "Thank you so much for doing this. You're so kind." Then she skipped off and left the market, leaving the old man smiling at her. I was touched by what I had seen.

Just when the old man started to walk away from the market, I ran after him and whispered in his ear, "I saw what you have done. You're my hero!" As I walked away, I glanced back and I could see him beaming, this time at me.

I was blown away by what I had just witnessed. Someone who had so little for himself, was able to show such incredible generosity to another person. It then dawned on me that I had a lot to be thankful for. I hope that some day I can show my appreciation of what I have by following the example of that old man. He had so little, yet he was willing to share it with others.
