Section E: Open-ended Comprehension 1 (10 marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

I can still recall the first caning I had in school back in the 1970s. I had done badly in my examinations. I was ill quite often and did not have much interest in my studies. My family's move to Kampong Chantek was somewhat a disaster for my education.

There were many fun things to do for children my age in the kampong. We climbed trees, played with fighting fish and caught spiders. We played games like Marbles, Kuti-Kuti and Hopscotch. My favourite game was Chapteh. I was really good at it.

My teacher, Mr Muthu, was a kind man. He did not believe in caning children. After my poor results, he did not punish me. Instead, he wrote encouraging words in my report book. It was the practice then that the principal, Mr Tan, would come into the classroom to take a look at the report books of those who had not done well.

My report book was on top of the pile. I heard my name as Mr Tan's voice boomed across the classroom.

He screamed, "Go to my office. Next to the desk is a wooden cabinet. Open it, find the magic wand you like best and bring it back for me."

Section F: Open-ended Comprehension 2 (10 marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

I looked up, the sky was tar-black and large clouds were moving towards me. A bolt of lightning flashed across the sky. I quickened my footsteps, pulling my windbreaker closer to my body. Soon, the pitter-patter of raindrops landed on the pavement. A frantic mewing caught my attention. Curious, I peered inside the drain and discovered a white kitten. It looked like it was injured. Being an animal lover, I could not bear to see the kitten in agony. Carefully, I lifted the kitten out from the drain.

I hugged the shivering kitten close to my body and hurried home. I gave it some milk and it lapped it all up. Noticing the cut on its front paw, I cleaned the wound and bandaged it. My worry was Mother's discomfort with keeping more animals at home.

When Mother returned home and saw the kitten, she was upset at the sight of yet another stray animal that I had brought home. Some months ago, I had rescued a stray puppy. However, I was forced to send it to the Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (SPCA) as we already had too many pets at home. This time, on seeing the kitten, Mother immediately demanded I take it to SPCA as well. However, I said, "I promise not to bring home any more stray animals if you let me keep this kitten." After much persuasion, she finally relented and agreed to my request. Snowball is now the newest member of my family.
