Section I: Comprehension (Selected Response) (4 marks)

Read the following passage carefully and answer questions 39 to 42.

Jasmine walked into the bedroom which she now shared with her brother, Ken. She was upset that she had to squeeze all her dolls on her half of the display shelf. She frowned as she looked at Ken's model aeroplanes on the other half of the shelf. Jasmine had to give up her own room as her parents wanted to turn it into a nursery for the new baby.

As Father heaved the mattresses onto the new bunk beds, Jasmine's frown curved into a smile. She wanted to sleep on the top bunk. It was the only thing that could cheer her up.

Ken exclaimed, "I want to sleep there too!"

"No!" Jasmine wailed.

"To be fair, both of you will take turns. Let's draw lots to see who gets to sleep on the top bunk tonight," Father suggested.

"Yes!" Ken shouted gleefully when Father drew his name.

Later that night, Ken climbed up the ladder to sleep on the top bunk. Jasmine frowned as she lay on the bottom bunk. Suddenly, she had an idea. She hung the blanket from the top bunk. She slipped out of bed to find her torch. Then, she crawled back in and pretended that she was in a dark, secret cave. Jasmine grinned as she drifted off to sleep.

The next night, Ken sighed, "I guess it's your turn tonight."

Jasmine looked at Ken and decided to share her secret with her brother. She hung the blanket from the top bunk. Ken's eyes lit up. He would pretend he was in a tent as he loved camping. Ken thanked Jasmine for sharing her secret as he disappeared into his "tent". Sharing a room was not so bad after all.

Section J: Comprehension (Open-ended) (8 marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer questions 43 to 47.

Paul received a new car from his brother on Christmas Eve. On Christmas Day, when Paul was walking to his car after work, he spotted a stranger walking around his new and shiny car. Admiring it, the stranger introduced himself as David and asked Paul, "Is this your car, sir?"

Paul nodded and replied, "My brother gave it to me for Christmas." David was astonished and could not believe what he had just heard. David barely had enough money for his daily meals and owning a car was his lifelong dream.

"You mean your brother gave you this car and it cost you nothing? How I wish..." he hesitated.

Deep in his heart, Paul thought that David was going to wish for a brother, just like his. Instead, David continued, "I wish to be a brother like yours." It was Paul's turn to be shocked. David then turned to Paul and requested politely, "Would you mind driving me home?" Paul smiled and he thought he knew what David wanted – to show his neighbours that he could ride in a new and shiny car. Again, Paul was mistaken.

David asked Paul to stop in front of his old and run-down house to wait for him. Moments later, David appeared but he was moving slowly. He was carrying his physically disabled sister on his back as the family could not afford a wheelchair for her.

David pointed to the car and told his sister, "That is the car I was telling you about earlier on. His brother gave it to him for Christmas and it did not cost him anything. Someday, I will buy a car just like it! Then, I will be able to drive you around the town to see all the beautiful Christmas decorations!"

Touched by what he had heard, Paul got out of the driver's seat and helped the girl into his car. The excited elder brother joined in as the three of them enjoyed a memorable holiday ride.

That Christmas, Paul learnt that it was indeed more blessed to give than to receive.
