Section F: Comprehension Open-Ended – Passage A (8 marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

Sammy the seal spent most of his time looking out at the children playing on the beach. With a look of longing on his face, he often observed them and wondered why he could not play with them.

One day, Sammy and his mother were lying on the rocks, enjoying the warm sunshine. He asked, "Mama, why can't I play with the other kids?" Sammy was young and did not realise he was not the same as them.

Mother said, "You have many friends you can play with. They are Suzie, Tommy, Zoe and Opal."

"No, Mama, I'm talking about the children over there, on the sand. I see them playing beach balls and building sandcastles. They even have picnics there. They look like they're having so much fun!"

Sammy's mother was not sure how to answer. She patted his back and replied slowly, trying to comfort him, "Well, dear, seals live in water but people live on land."

Sammy was quiet for a moment. He said, "But can I go and play with them for just a little while, please?"

Mama thought about it. "Sammy, why don't you swim as close as you can to the beach and watch them play for a while," she suggested.

This made Sammy happy and nervous at the same time.

Section G: Comprehension Open-Ended – Passage B (10 marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow. Your answers must be based on the passage.

As Kojo and Bandele entered the empty Science room, Kojo caught sight of a tray of glass thermometers at the teacher's table.

"Are glass thermometers more accurate than oral digital thermometers?" Kojo wondered aloud.

Winking at Kojo, Bandele walked over to the teacher's table, took a glass thermometer from the tray and placed the thermometer under his tongue. Seconds later, he took it out from his mouth. He was about to show Kojo his temperature when he accidentally dropped it on the floor, breaking it into two! Kojo gasped.

Soon, droplets of red liquid spilled on the floor. Quickly, Bandele wiped the red droplets with his handkerchief and threw the handkerchief together with the broken thermometer into the dustbin.

Bandele warned Kojo not to tell anyone about it. Soon, Mr Abu and their classmates started pouring in.

Just then, Mr Abu noticed red droplets near the dustbin. When he went nearer and saw the red-stained handkerchief and the broken thermometer in the dustbin, he turned to the class furiously.

"Who did this?" Mr Abu bellowed. No one answered.

"Since no one is owning up, I shall detain all of you during recess!" his voice thundered. Immediately, there was a murmur of anger from the class.

Kojo's heart was pounding. Immediately, he turned to Bandele and gestured to him to own up but Bandele stared icily at him. Having no choice, Kojo took a deep breath. Then he stood up slowly, his legs trembling.

"I... I... did it. Please don't punish the whole class," Kojo's lip was quivering as he pleaded.

Mr Abu ordered him to go to the principal's office. As Kojo dragged his feet out of the room, he took one last glance at Bandele but Bandele kept his eyes glued to the floor, holding back his tears.
