(F) Comprehension 1
Read this passage and answer questions 31 to 37. (8 marks)

Megan was in the kitchen feeding Hannah, her neighbour's toddler, when the telephone rang. She left the room to pick up the phone, leaving Hannah with her bowl of baby cereal. All of a sudden, she heard her parrot yelling, "Mama! Baby!" It also started flapping its wings and knocking on the side of its cage with its body. This caused loud clanking sounds as the metal rattled.

Megan came rushing back to find Hannah turning blue. She looked like she was choking. Megan quickly helped Hannah and she could breathe again.

In an interview after the incident, Megan said she was surprised by the parrot's reaction. The parrot had never uttered the words 'Mama' or 'Baby' before. It proved its intelligence as it had sensed something was amiss when it saw Hannah in distress and alerted Megan without a second thought.

For its heroic act, the Red Cross Association presented the parrot with an award along with some gifts, which included healthy bird food, toys, bird shampoo, and even a $100 gift certificate to a pet shop.

When describing the parrot, Megan said, "It must be the smartest parrot. I did not even train him to talk. We are inseparable and it is fortunate that I brought it along to babysit Hannah that day."

(G) Comprehension 2

Read this passage and answer questions 38 to 46. (10 marks)

For the first time, my four grown children were all home visiting this weekend, so we decided to go out for breakfast. As my toddler granddaughter had never had pancakes before, we were excited about her trying them.

We decided to order every kind of pancake the restaurant had. When the pancakes came, her eyes were large with anticipation. She obviously loved them as she giggled merrily every time she had a mouthful of pancake.

As I was looking around, a well-dressed gentleman at a nearby table caught my eye. He was eating his breakfast all alone in the corner. He frequently looked over and smiled warmly as my granddaughter continued to entertain us all. Suddenly, I had a great idea.

I went up to the counter and picked out a postcard with a smiley face on it. Then, I sneaked up to the waitress. I explained to her that I wanted to pay that man's bill. I did not want him to know who I was so he would not pay me back. Instead of the bill, I also asked the waitress to give him the smiley card.

Our leisurely breakfast was still going on after the gentleman had left. The waitress came over and told us that not only had the gentleman passed our smiley card on, he had also paid for another table before he left. The second table had also paid for someone else and passed the smiley card on too!

I could not believe that by the time we left, the smiley card had been passed on three times! Who would have thought that my random act would trigger a chain of kindness?
