Section F: Comprehension 1 (8 marks)

Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

It was a bright sunny Saturday. Jay and Mike decided to ride their bicycles at the park instead of heading to the library or arcade like they usually do.

Thirty minutes later, they stopped cycling to rest. It was like an oven. Mike suggested sitting under a tree for shelter. Suddenly, Jay spotted something on the ground.

"What do you think it is?" Mike asked as they walked closer to take a better look. The boys were fascinated but puzzled by what Jay had found. It was a pouch which contained a thick wad of money. Mike immediately exclaimed, "Awesome! Let's split the money, then we can buy the new bicycles we want!"

"This belongs to someone else. We can't keep it!" Jay snapped.

Mike nodded in agreement. The boys then began a discussion. They realised that they would be upset if they accidentally lost something that was important to them.

They decided to make a police report. Together, they rode off to the police station to turn in the pouch. The next morning, Jay received a call from a police officer informing him that the pouch had been claimed. The owner was so grateful that he decided to reward the boys with a voucher of one hundred dollars from the local bicycle shop. Jay could not believe his luck!

Section I: Comprehension 2 (10 marks)
Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

Dear Diary,

I felt very awful so I decided to go for a walk to clear my head. I was not going to any place special. I was just walking. I walked down the road past the supermarket, cafe and library.

Finally, I came to a sign that said "Butterfly Trees". I had heard a lot about those trees where Monarch butterflies* fly thousands of miles to spend the winter. I followed the arrows until I came across a path. It led me to a field full of trees with signs that said "Quiet". There was a big sign that said "Warning. $500 fine for touching the butterflies."

Obediently, I tiptoed through the trees. The place was very quiet. I had read that the butterflies were scared of noise. The field was shady because of the cloudy sky. Soon, I began to think that the signs about the butterflies were some kind of trick to attract tourists because I did not see any Monarch butterflies flitting around. Next to me, I heard a slight flutter. Looking closely, I discovered that some of the tree branches looked strange. They looked as if they were covered with little brown sticks.

Soon, the sun came out from behind the clouds. The little brown sticks began to move. Slowly, they opened their wings and turned into orange and black butterflies. There were thousands of them quivering on one tree. They began to fly off through the trees in the sunshine. These butterflies were so beautiful that a smile broke out on my face. I just stood there watching them until the sun was hidden by the clouds again. Almost immediately, the butterflies came back and turned into brown sticks again.
