Central Vale Community Club Presents

URBAN FARMER CARNIVAL

Date: 28 November 2021 (Sunday)
Time: 10a.m. to 4p.m.
Venue: Level 1 Atrium, Central Vale CC

Urban farming is the practice of growing, processing and distributing food in urban areas.

The Urban Farmer Carnival is organised to encourage residents to grow their own food and to go green by adjusting their lifestyles and habits. Every household can grow food even in limited spaces!

Do you know that as a result of climate change and rising population, the world is set to face a 56% drop in food supply by 2050? We should step up our efforts to achieve Singapore's '30 by 30' goal which aims to produce 30 per cent of Singapore's nutritional needs by 2030.

HOME GARDENING WORKSHOP

Date: 28 November 2021
Time: 10a.m. to 11.30a.m.
Venue: Room 5 at Central Vale CC (maximum 16 pax) OR Online
Registration Fee: $15 per pax (inclusive of a farming kit)

Register through the website: http://go-go.gov.sg/greenurban by 31 October 2021.

For online participants:

- A Zoom link will be sent to you via a text message.
- A home farming kit will be sent to your residential address latest by 14 November.
- The home farming kit will be mailed to local residential addresses only.

Jointly-organised by:

Testimonial from a past participant, Jason Quah:

My son and I attended two workshops at the previous carnival and learned something new! My favourite part of the workshop was when we opened the farming kits to discover the various items to help us kick-start our farming experience. This upcoming workshop will definitely be suitable for everyone, from amateurs to experienced farmers. It is also great for families to spend quality bonding time. I strongly recommend the workshop and for more people to start their own mini-farms at home.

(8 marks)

21. What is the main aim of this flyer?

(1) to attract people to go to the carnival
(2) to teach people how to set up a home garden
(3) to advise Singaporeans on how to save money
(4) to share information about Singapore's '30 by 30' goal

22. Why are the words 'URBAN FARMER CARNIVAL' stated in capital letters?

(1) to create a sense of urgency
(2) to capture the attention of readers
(3) to emphasise that the carnival is important
(4) to convince readers that the activities will be exciting

23. Which of the following statements about the 'HOME GARDENING' workshop is correct?

(1) Participants do not have to pay for the workshop.
(2) Participants can register for it through the website.
(3) Participants have to sign up for it by 28 November 2021.
(4) Participants from other countries can receive a farming kit.

24. If you sign up for the 'HOME GARDENING' workshop as an online participant and do not receive the farming kit after 14 November, you should _____.

(1) send a text message to 62257654

(1) "Seeds & Savings" talk
(2) "Recycling for Good" activity
(3) "Home Gardening" workshop
(4) "Grow Safe and Healthy Food" workshop

27. According to Jason Quah, the carnival is suitable for all participants because _____.

(1) everyone is new to urban farming
(2) the farming kit contains many valuable items
(3) everyone will be able to learn something from it
(4) participants can spend time bonding with other families

28. What message about urban farming are the organisers trying to convey?

(1) Everyone can play a part to achieve Singapore's '30 by 30' goal.
(2) We need a huge amount of space in order to grow our own food.
(3) Only those who know how to recycle can become urban farmers.
(4) Participants should attend all workshops in order to be an urban farmer.

Refer to the passage below when you answer questions 71 to 80 in Booklet B.

Mary came from a humble background and she married a man who could only afford a simple lifestyle. She spent hours dreaming about a more extravagant lifestyle and desired owning jewellery and expensive clothing. As she owned neither of them, she felt worthless.

One night, her husband returned home with an invitation to a party. He hoped that Mary would be thrilled with the chance to attend it, but she scolded him for accepting the invitation. She told her husband that she had nothing to wear, so he should give the invitation to one of his friends whose wives could afford better clothing. Although her husband was taken aback by her reaction, he asked her how much a suitable dress would cost. She contemplated it for a long time. Then, she told him that four hundred dollars would be enough. He was greatly shocked and complained that it was exorbitant. However, he finally relented and gave her the money to buy it.

As the day of the party approached, Mary became anxious as she was worried about what others thought of her because of her lack of jewellery. Her husband suggested that she visit their neighbour, Mrs Fong, to borrow something suitable for her to wear. Mary reluctantly did. Mrs Fong gladly lent her a diamond necklace. Overcome with gratitude, Mary thanked her profusely and promised to return it that night.

At the party, Mary was the most beautiful woman. Everyone noticed and complimented her on her outfit and she was smiling throughout the event. Soon, it was time to go. Mr Lim covered her shoulders with her shawl to keep her warm as they left. Mary was embarrassed by the old shawl. Wanting to slip away unnoticed, she quickly followed her husband out of the host's house.

Returning home, Mary removed her shawl. To her horror, she discovered that the necklace was no longer around her neck. In a panic, her husband went outside to retrace their steps. Terrified, she sat and waited for him. He returned home much later in an even greater panic—he could not find the necklace. He instructed her to call Mrs Fong and say that she had broken the clasp of the necklace and was getting it mended at a jeweller's.

They continued to look for the necklace over the next few days. After a week, they decided to replace it. They visited many jewellery shops, searching for a similar one, and finally found one. It cost twenty thousand dollars. The Lims spent a month borrowing from friends to raise the sum. Finally, Mr Lim purchased the necklace. When Mary returned the necklace in its case to Mrs Fong, the latter was annoyed at how long it took Mary to return it. She kept the case but did not bother to check the jewellery. Relieved, Mary left in a hurry.

The Lims began to live a life of extreme poverty. They could not afford their apartment so they immediately sold it to get some money. After that, both of them held two jobs each. Their misery lasted ten years, but finally, they repaid their debts. The years of struggle had taken its toll on her health and beauty. Mary looked haggard.

One Sunday, while she was out for a walk, Mary spotted Mrs Fong. Mary approached her and greeted her. Mrs Fong did not recognise her at first. When Mary identified herself, Mrs Fong could not help but exclaim that she had aged so much. Mary whimpered that the change was because of Mrs Fong's jewellery. Then, she explained to Mrs Fong the long saga of losing the necklace, and working for years to repay the debt. At the end of her story, Mrs Fong clasped Mary's hands and said, "You should have told me! The original necklace was just a piece of costume jewellery, and cost only thirty dollars!" Upon hearing that, Mary realised that she could have avoided years of misery if she had not tried to cover things up. It was a painful lesson learnt.
