David had always avoided travelling in a plane because he was terrified of encountering a crash. "Every time I thought about flying, I would begin sweating and my heart would start beating heavily (16). I only felt better by avoiding travel altogether (17). After some time, I realised I had to do something about it."

David met a therapist, who taught him to take deep breaths whenever he felt afraid. After some time, he decided to face his fear of flying by taking his family on a vacation.

As the flight took off, David concentrated (18) on keeping his breathing calm and even. Whenever thoughts about crashing entered his mind, he substituted (19) them with a positive thought about how much fun he would have with his family when they arrived at their destination. Slowly, he began to relax. When they landed, he felt so proud of himself. The fear that had such a powerful hold (20) on him had disappeared! He finally felt free.

The Write Art Competition 2021

Theme:
Together, we can fight Covid-19

Draw Academy is calling all young budding artists and writers! The Write Art Competition is here again for the third time! This nation-wide competition promotes and recognises the creative and artistic talents of our primary school children.

This year, Draw Academy invites all primary school children (7 to 12 years old) to create original artworks and writing based on something they have learnt about the COVID-19 pandemic. All students within the age range and who are currently residing in Singapore are welcome to participate!

Choose from one of the following activities

- Draw a comic strip to educate the public about the coronavirus.
- Design a poster to encourage everyone to wear his or her masks at all times.

- Write a letter to a healthcare worker to express your gratitude during this pandemic.
- Write a poem about how vaccines help keep you healthy.
- Create a 3D germ-fighting hero to remind the public how to fight off germs.

Submit a screenshot of your original entry to www.drawacademy.com/reg before 10pm, 12 Dec 2021 and win attractive prizes. Visit the website for detailed information about submission.

Downloaded from SingaKids.com

Registration Period: 15 Nov – 1 Dec 2021, 10am – 5pm

To participate, visit www.wac@drawacademy.com to pay $30 and register.

Early Bird Discount!
Register by 18 Nov and pay only $20. Limited spaces so HURRY!

- Every participant is only allowed to submit one entry.
- All payments must be made online via 'Pay Instant' to Draw Academy. All fees collected from this competition will be donated to Wellness Hospital.

For more information on The Write Art Competition, please visit Draw Academy website or call the reception at Draw Academy at 6235 2323.
You may also email Mr Collins at collins@drawacademy.com for enquiries.

The following prizes will be awarded for each activity.

First Prize:	$70 cash, a certificate and a trophy
Second Prize:	$50 cash, a certificate and a box of paints
Third Prize:	$30 cash, a certificate and a set of crayons

Top 3 Winners for each activity and their winning entries will be featured on Draw Academy website.

Hear from our 2019 and 2020 Winners...

The most memorable experience I had from the competition was not about winning the prize... I was able to donate to the hospital.

Jolene, 12,

Philip Johns, a biologist, is part of a team studying otters in Singapore.

(39) [ ]

There has been an increase in the number of otters since an Clean River Campaign

(40) [ ]

was launched by the ganverment in 1977. Johns said, "Now, there's a healthy

(41) [ ] (42) [ ]

poppuletion of otters. The only problem is a lack of space for these territory animals "

(43) [ ]

According to Johns' team, Singapore's urban otters are living with its

(44) [ ] (45) [ ]

parents one to two years long than those living in the wild to cope in the limited space in the city. This is so as there is less space for them to explore.

(46) [ ]

Since Singapore's otters have adapted well to their urban environment, they still face threats to their survaivel. One reason is because they share their homes

(47) [ ]

(48) [ ]

with a predater, the water monitor lizard, which attacks otter pups. In addition, otters have also become victims of road acksidents.

(49) [ ]

Despite some of the problems caused by otters, Singaporeans are generally fond of their cheeky neybours. The otters have become so famous that they even have their own Facebook fan page called "Ottercity".

(50) [ ]

Read the passage below and answer questions 71 to 80. (20 marks)

I was on a family vacation and our hotel was right beside the sea. I was reading my book by the beach one afternoon when I was distracted by a commotion nearby. Curious, I put aside my book and joined the group of people gathered near the edge of the sea.

I gasped when I saw what the commotion was about. There was a giant turtle, and it was upside down! Four of its huge flippers were waving frantically in the air, and its long wrinkled neck was stretching far out of its shell. The fisherman who had caught the turtle must have flipped it onto its back to stop it from getting away. A thick rope was tied around the turtle and the fisherman held onto the end of it.

Some people were clicking their cameras enthusiastically while others were taking videos of the turtle trying to escape. The crowd was thrilled by the spectacle before them. One burly man found a plank of wood on the sand and carried it towards the turtle. He started poking the turtle's head with it. When the end of the plank touched the turtle's neck, the turtle took the plank into its mouth and snapped it.

"Wow!" the crowd shouted. "Did you see that? I'm glad it wasn't my arm!" a person from the crowd exclaimed. "Wait till it gets sold and becomes turtle meat!" another joked and the crowd laughed.

Suddenly, I heard a boy's high-pitched screams, "Get away from the turtle! Stop poking it!" We all turned and saw a boy and his father running to where we were. "All of you are horrible and cruel for just standing there and doing nothing to save the turtle! Would you like it if you were forcefully taken away from your homes to be sold and tortured? Animals deserve to be treated with kindness too!" the boy shouted at the group of adults standing on the beach. Everyone was silent.

The father was embarrassed by his son, but he was not ashamed of him. "I apologise for my son's rudeness. He is just standing up for what he believes in, something that I taught him to do. Please let the turtle go," he said, addressing the crowd.

Several people began shuffling their feet, including me. I sensed a slight change of mood in the crowd. There was a feeling of uneasiness, a touch of shame even. I could feel something in my heart stirring. Before I knew it, the words had flown out of my mouth, "The boy's right! Let the turtle go!" The crowd started murmuring. To my surprise, one by one, I heard other voices joining in to let the turtle go.

Not wanting to face an angry mob, the fisherman reluctantly agreed to let the turtle go. He untied the knot and, with the help of some men from the crowd, rolled the turtle over. It entered the water and was soon swimming away gracefully. It was several minutes before we lost sight of it.

The crowd dispersed. There was no joking or laughing in the crowd then. Everyone had learnt a lesson on the beach that day. Animals deserve the same respect as human beings. I saw the boy leaving hand in hand with his father, a smile plastered on his face.
