Bhutan is no ordinary place. It is the last great Himalayan kingdom, shrouded (16) in mystery and magic, where a traditional Buddhist culture embraces global developments. You will find the Bhutanese to be well-educated, fun-loving and well-informed about the world around them. Yet their lifestyle is steeped in customs and traditions. It is this blending (17) of the ancient and modern that makes Bhutan endlessly fascinating.

The immaculate (18) Eastern Himalayan landscape, where snow-capped peaks rise above forests and beautiful traditional villages, is captivating (19). In this picturesque landscape, there are many majestic (20) monasteries, many of which act as a stage for spectacular dance performances. Then there are the textiles and handicrafts, outrageous archery competitions, high-altitude trekking trails, and stunning flora and fauna that are a feast to the senses.

New Beginnings Animal Shelter
Pet Adoption Drive 2021

New Beginnings Animal Shelter (NBAS) is a non-profit organisation founded in 2010. It provides shelter and care to abandoned, abused and rescued animals.

* SATURDAY, 7 MARCH 2021
* 10 AM TO 9 PM * HORT PARK
FREE ADMISSION

Give these animals a second chance. They need a forever home.
Meet them at the adoption drive!

Jessie (4 years old, Female)

Jessie is the leader of the cats at the shelter. This confident cat came to us a year ago as her elderly owner, who was in poor health, was unable to care for her any longer. Jessie opens up easily to people and is curious about her surroundings. A warm lap is her favourite spot to curl up in for a cosy nap. She often demands for pats on her head and cuddles. Be careful not to touch her belly as she dislikes it. Despite her dominant streak at times, she gets along quite well with other cats.

Casper (1 year 5 months old, Male)

Casper was found abandoned with a wound on his left hind leg. Thankfully, he recovered well after he was rescued. A well-behaved boy, Casper is quiet and loves treats. He is very shy around people. It will take some time for him to warm up, hence he needs a patient and caring owner. He enjoys walks. However, he can get frightened by crowds. Casper would need to be homed with at least another dog to help him adapt to his new home. Due to his timid nature, please make an appointment to meet him at least two days before the event.

Fun activities at the adoption drive

Bring your pets to this event to participate in exciting activities:

- First 50 attendees will receive goodie bags filled with pet treats and toys.
- Wear matching outfits with your pet and stand a chance to win a $100 cash voucher by Precious Pets Store.
- Enjoy free dental checks for your pets by Toothy Vet.

Encourage Adoption

Save two lives

Pets are abandoned every day. With limited space at our shelter, we cannot afford to take in more animals. By adopting, you provide a pet with a second chance and free up shelter space for another pet in need.

Cost-friendly $

It is much cheaper to adopt a pet than to buy one. Buying a pet can cost between $500 and $3000. At NBAS, only an adoption fee of $250 is required.

Stop Irresponsible Breeding

When you buy a pet from a pet shop, you are uncertain of the condition it is bred in. The animal may come from a cruel puppy or kitten mill, with poor breeding facilities and unhealthy living conditions. By adopting, you can be sure that you do not provide any funds to support these irresponsible breeders.

Ensure a good fit

You and your family get to pick a furry companion suitable for your lifestyle. You may want an active dog as a companion for your morning jogs or a cool and quiet cat which stays by your side as you read. Learn about each animal's personality from our staff. Visit the shelter weekly to spend time with the animal before bringing it home.

How else can you help NBAS?

- Help out at NBAS during your free time. Visit www.nbas.com.sg/volunteer for more information.
- Make a donation. We accept donations of cash and pet food.
- Email donate@nbas.com.sg to make arrangements for your donation to be collected.

His two brothers and sister had already flown away the day before, leaving him alone on the ledge. Somehow, when he ran to the brink of the ledge and flapped his wings, he was overcome with fear. The great expanse of the sea stretched a long way down beneath. Feeling certain that his wings would not be able to support him, he bent his head and ran back to the little hole where he slept at night. Though his wings were far longer than that of his siblings, he failed to muster up courage to take that plunge which appeared so desperate to him.

His parents had come around, calling shrilly to him. With loud squawks, they also started reproaching him and threatening to let him starve on the ledge unless he flew away. However, for the life of him, he could not move. That was twenty-four hours ago. Since then, nobody had come near him. The day before, all day long, he witnessed his parents flying about his siblings, perfecting them in the art of flight, teaching them how to skim the waves and dive for fish, like all seagulls do.

The sun was now ascending the sky. He felt the heat because he had not eaten since the previous nightfall. He searched everywhere but not a single scrap of food was in sight. He returned to his nest and gnawed at the dried pieces of spotted eggshell. It was like eating part of himself.

He trotted back and forth on the ledge, trying to find some means of reaching his family who was on the opposite cliff. However, the ledge would always end with a sharp vertical fall. There was only one way to reach his parents.

He stood at the brink of the ledge on one leg, with the other leg hidden under his wings. He closed one eye, then the other and pretended to be falling asleep. Still they took no notice of him. His siblings were dozing off. His father was preening his feathers. Only his mother was looking at him. Now and again, she tore at a piece of fish that lay at her feet. The sight of food maddened him.

"Ga, ga, ga," he cried, begging her to bring him some food. His persistent pleas touched the heartstrings of his mother, or so he thought. His mother picked up a piece of fish and flew across to him. He leaned out eagerly, trying to get nearer to her. However, when she was inches away from him, she halted. Her legs were hanging limply and her wings motionless.

He was wondering why she did not come nearer. Overcome with hunger, he decided to dive for the fish. With a loud scream, he plunged into space. A monstrous terror seized him and his heart stood still. But it only lasted a moment for he instinctively spread out his wings and felt the tips cutting through the air. He was not falling headlong now. Instead, he was flying gradually downwards and outwards. He was no longer afraid. He started to dive and soar, making twists and turns effortlessly in the air.

He was hovering over the sea. His family had landed on this green floor in front of him. He dropped his legs and found them sinking into the water. He screamed in fright. Then his belly touched it and he sank no further. He was floating on it. Around him was his family, screaming and praising him for having made his first flight.
