SECTION F: Comprehension

Comprehension 1 (8 marks)

Read the following passage carefully and answer questions 33 to 39.

George was driving home after work. He had arrested two drivers who did not obey traffic rules and caught a shoplifter that day. George was eager to get home to bathe and have his dinner. Suddenly, he received a call from the police station. "Report immediately to the junction of Clementi Road and Holland Road. An ambulance is already on its way there."

Without hesitation, George activated the siren in his car and sped to the location. When he saw the wreckage lying all over the street, he knew what had happened.

"Officer, there is a man trapped in there!" shouted a woman pointing to a blue car. George rushed over to the car. He calmed the injured man and freed him from the tangled seat belt. He helped the man to the side of the road and told him that help would be arriving soon.

Within seconds, George heard the ambulance approaching. Two paramedics rushed over to them. "We will take it from here, Officer," they said before rushing the man to the hospital. George called the station to report what had happened. While waiting for more officers to arrive, he spoke to a few eyewitnesses. When the accident site was finally cleared, his stomach grumbled, reminding him of his long-forgotten dinner.

Comprehension 2 (10 marks)

Read the following passage carefully and answer questions 40 to 47.

Tommy tried hard to hide behind his textbook. He dreaded Mr Woon's lessons because he was sure he would be called up to answer a question. The thought of speaking in front of his whole class made him cringe.

"Tommy, could you please tell us what a noun is?" asked Mr Woon with a smile. Tommy knew the answer. However, his face went red and he felt all his classmates' eyes on him. Remembering his sister's advice, he tried to calm himself down by taking a deep breath. It was useless. He was a bundle of nerves as he tried to say something. In the end, he was unable to answer the question properly.

The next day, Tommy thought of a new idea. He would try to muster up his courage to raise his hand. Then he would speak slowly and avoid looking directly at the others. Tommy was not sure if it would work but it was worth a try.

That week during Mathematics class, Mr Woon asked, "Who can solve this difficult problem sum?" Tommy raised his hand nervously. Mr Woon was pleasantly surprised and beamed at Tommy. Tommy smiled shyly. Then he explained each step slowly and solved the problem. His plan worked.

By volunteering to answer Mr Woon's question, Tommy realised that he did not clam up anymore. He could not wait to tell his sister about how he had overcome his fear of public speaking.
