Section E: Comprehension Open-Ended (10 marks)
Read the passage carefully and annotate.

Percy Penguin was not scared of anything. Percy loved jumping into the water. However, Rosy Penguin was not so brave. Rosy preferred staying on land.

Rosy was very scared of the dark. Every night, she would imagine all the scary things that might be out there. She also hated to be alone.

One morning, the penguins found an iceberg floating in the sea nearby. Rosy did not like how it looked.

Percy jumped into the sea and swam over to the iceberg to explore. The iceberg was like a playground! Percy was having a fantastic time until he slid down an ice slide too fast. He crashed into a dark cave and bumped his head.

"Percy hasn't come back! I don't want to be alone!" cried Rosy that evening. "You worry too much," replied the other penguins. Rosy was sure that something was wrong. Then, she did a very brave thing. She swam over to the iceberg.

Rosy saw familiar footprints at the top of a big slippery slide. Immediately, she slid down. Her feet hit something soft. It was Percy!

"Rosy?" Percy asked with his eyes widened. "Aren't you scared of the dark?"

"I was but I knew I had to save you!" Rosy answered.

"Thank you for rescuing me," Percy said. "You helped me even though you were scared, which makes you the bravest penguin of all!"
