Soon, they had a plan. Zul would climb the tree since he was lighter. Muthu would help to push him up the tree at the start and keep watch. Soon, Zul was halfway up the tree. "You are almost there," Muthu encouraged.

Their neighbour, Mr Tan, came home just then. He was shocked to see what was happening. He quickly got his ladder and rescued Zul.

Shanti's heart skipped a beat as she picked it up. She quickly shoved the crumpled $50 note into her pocket. She looked around nervously and was relieved that no one had noticed her actions.

When she reached the information counter, she noticed a lady and two young children. The lady was in tears as she explained that she had lost $50. "I'm sorry but no one has returned it," the staff replied. "Miss, I found your $50!" Shanti exclaimed excitedly. "Thank you," the lady replied gratefully. She explained that she needed the money to buy food for her family. She added that the money was all she had left for the whole week. Shanti was relieved that she had done the right thing.

Shanti then had to rush home so she did not have time to even get a card. She told her father about everything that had happened. "I'm so proud of you! Your actions are the best birthday present!" her father said.
