Section C: Comprehension (10 marks)
Read the passage below and answer questions 11 to 19.

It was a cool breezy day. The family was at the nature park. As soon as they entered the park, they could hear birds chirping and leaves rustling. The children saw a monitor lizard swimming lazily in the water.

"I can't wait to see a crocodile," Amelia squealed, jumping up and down.

Her brother, Ben, covered his ears and frowned. "Don't scream, Amelia. Dad told us not to frighten the birds or destroy their nests," he reminded her. He hoped to see a kingfisher.

Suddenly, Ben stopped walking. He had spotted a bird on the branch of a tree. He looked through his binoculars. Then he whispered, "It's a kingfisher."

Amelia gripped his arm and squinted. "Where?" she yelled. She had forgotten what their father had told them. Startled, the bird flapped its wings and flew off. When Amelia realised what she had done, tears welled up in her eyes. She wiped them away and said softly, "I'm sorry, Ben." She knew that she had frightened it away.

Ben felt disappointed, but he gave his sister a hug to comfort her. Kindly, he said, "It's all right, Amelia."

Suddenly, Amelia tapped her brother on his shoulder. She kept very quiet and did not make a sound. She pointed to something shiny in the water. Ben and Amelia stared at the water. As fast as lightning, a kingfisher dived into the water and caught a fish. Ben was thrilled!

"Well done, little sister," Ben said. Amelia smiled proudly at her big brother.
