Section C: Comprehension (10 marks)

Read the passage below and answer questions 11 – 18.

Dear Reyes,

How are you? Do you remember my rabbit Boba? Well, we celebrated her third birthday yesterday. Sister and I made her a special treat, 'raisin wheels'. Let me share our recipe with you.

These are the ingredients:

- one-quarter cup of rabbit pellets (small hard balls of hay);
- half cup of hay dust;
- one banana; and
- sixteen raisins.

We got two cardboard tubes to make the 'wheels'.

First, we preheated the oven. Next, we made the dough. Sister crushed the pellets and sprinkled water to soften them, while I mashed the banana. Then we put them together in a bowl and mixed in the hay dust. Afterwards, we cut the cardboard tubes into rings, each about two centimetres thick. We arranged them on a baking tray. Carefully, we added the dough to each cardboard ring before placing a raisin at the centre of each 'wheel'. Lastly, we put the tray of treats into the oven for twenty minutes.

You know something? The aroma of baked banana and hay was mouth-watering! When I exclaimed that Boba was one lucky bunny, Sister dared me to try some. How annoying! Anyway, Boba loved the raisin wheels! She also had fun trying to get the treats out of the rings. My homemade treats are the best!

Take care and write soon!

Bye,
Sam

Section C: Comprehension (10 marks)

Read the passage below and answer questions 11 – 18.

Farmer Joe usually enjoyed the greatest harvest in August. However, this year was extremely different. "My land is bare. What can I harvest and sell to earn money for my family?" he sighed.

Just then, Farmer Joe's sheepdog walked past, with her puppies trailed behind her. They were making their way to the doghouse. An idea popped up in Farmer Joe's mind.

Farmer Joe quickly got to work, creating a poster to inform others of the sale of the puppies. It was ready within minutes. He immediately went to nail it to the wooden fence surrounding his farmyard. As he was about to hammer the last nail to the fence, he felt a tug on his trousers leg. He jumped. "What could that be?" he wondered. Looking down, he saw a boy staring at him. Before Farmer Joe could even open his mouth, the boy said, "Mister, I want to buy one of your puppies."

"Well, a puppy costs a lot of money," Farmer Joe chuckled as he knocked the nail into place and the poster was up.

The smile on the boy's face disappeared as his gaze fell. Then, reaching deep into his pocket, he pulled out some coins and held them up. "One...two...," he began counting. "I've $1.95. Is that enough for a look?" the boy asked, still hopeful. Farmer Joe could not bear to turn him away, seeing how sincere he was.

Farmer Joe let out a whistle. Out from the doghouse ran the sheepdog and her little fur balls. The boy instantly knelt beside one. As it licked him, the boy's eyes danced with delight while he giggled and squirmed. At that sight, Farmer Joe changed his mind. He picked up that puppy and handed it to the boy.

"How much?" asked the boy.

"No charge," answered Farmer Joe as tears welled up in his eyes. "There's no charge for love."
