Section C: Comprehension (8 marks)

Read the passage below and answer questions 17 to 21.

Liam was about to ride his bicycle to school as usual. To his disappointment, he discovered that his bicycle had a flat tire. As both of his parents were busy, he did not want to trouble them. Liam picked up his backpack and set off on foot.

As Liam walked down the street, he heard a soft whimper. It was coming from a nearby alley. Curious, he walked towards the sound and found a little puppy huddled behind a trash can. The puppy had a blue collar but no visible tag.

Liam gently approached the puppy and said, "It's okay, little guy. I'll help you." He reached out and the puppy cautiously came closer. Liam picked up the puppy and started walking towards his school. He was hoping to find its owner along the way. He scanned the surroundings to see if anyone was looking for something, but to no avail.

Determined to find the puppy's rightful owner, he asked his teacher for help when he reached school. Together, they posted a photograph online. To their surprise, a family contacted Liam's teacher. Soon, they were reunited with their puppy.

The family was grateful to Liam for his kindness. Liam felt proud knowing he had helped the lost puppy find its way home.

Section G: Comprehension 2 (10 marks)

Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

It was a warm afternoon when I was playing soccer in the backyard with my friend, Henry. Excited to show off a new stroke learnt from my soccer class, I kicked the ball as hard as I could. It soared over the backyard wall. To my horror, it crashed into our neighbour's window with a loud bang. Both of us were frozen in shock.

"Get the ladder!" I yelled. Henry rushed to grab it, and I climbed up to see the damage. There was a broken window and it was a huge mess. Our neighbour, Mr Soh, was a grouchy old man who lived alone. I was terrified to imagine what he would do.

Even though I was tempted to run away from the situation, I recalled my mother's advice to always tell the truth. Nervously, I walked to Mr Soh's house and rang the doorbell.

"Who did this?" Mr Soh yelled as he stomped to the door. He looked at me menacingly and his face was crimson red.

"I'm sorry... I didn't mean... to break your window," I stammered and blurted out an apology. He glared at me and slammed the door.

Guilt-stricken, I decided to pay for the broken window. I took all the money from my piggy bank and went back to Mr Soh's house. In cold sweat, I knocked on his door. I offered him the money, expecting him to give me an earful.

To my surprise, he broke into a smile and said, "What are you doing? Don't be silly. I'm not angry at you. I'm pleased with your courage to own up."

Not only that, Mr Soh even invited me inside and taught me how to play chess. I was amazed to learn more about him and discover how good he was at chess!
