Section G: Comprehension 1 (8 marks)
Read the passage carefully and answer the questions 33 to 39.

Did you know that Singapore is home to the world's first night zoo? Opened in 1994, the Night Safari attracts visitors from all over the world who want to experience the magic of nocturnal animals. Unlike regular zoos, this unique park only opens after sunset, when many of its animals are most active. There are over 900 animals from 100 different species, many of which are rare or endangered.

Visitors can explore the park on foot along well-lit trails or take the popular tram ride that winds through seven different zones. Each zone looks like the natural habitat of its animals, from mountains to rainforests.

The park uses special lighting that looks like moonlight! This brilliant method makes the animals visible to humans but does not affect their normal activities. You might see Asian elephants taking a night-time stroll, fishing cats catching their dinner, or leopards prowling in the darkness.

Besides observing animals, visitors can enjoy shows such as the popular Creatures of the Night show where experienced guides share facts about protecting wildlife. The Night Safari also has effective breeding projects where many threatened animals, such as the Asian lion, have been successfully bred. These Night Safari programmes all play an important role in protecting endangered species for future generations.

For Q33 and Q34, read the statements and tick ✓ "True" or "False".
Refer to paragraph 1 to help you. The first example has been done for you. [2m]

SECTION H: COMPREHENSION 2 (10 marks)
Read the following passage carefully and answer questions 40 to 45.

One Saturday morning, Cindy noticed something was wrong with her rabbit, Misty. Misty was lying quietly in a corner of the cage. Usually, Misty would hop up to her whenever Cindy came near. Cindy reached in and touched Misty's fur. It felt warmer than normal. The lettuce in Misty's food bowl lay untouched. Cindy began to worry.

"Something is wrong," Cindy told her mother. Her mother agreed. She said they should take Misty to the vet. Cindy placed Misty gently into a smaller cage. She gripped it tightly as the car went over bumps on the road. Her heart beat quickly the whole time during the car ride. Seeing how worried Cindy was, her mother laid a comforting hand over her shoulders.

At the clinic, a tall woman in a white coat stepped out with a stethoscope swinging from her neck. "Hello, Cindy," Dr Ally said warmly, "Let's have a look at Misty." Cindy watched as Dr Ally examined Misty.

Dr Ally's hands were sure but gentle. She looked into Misty's eyes, checked its teeth, and placed the stethoscope on its chest. Cindy held her breath while waiting. After a moment, Dr Ally smiled, "Misty has a slight fever. It is likely caused by an infection. With some medicine, Misty will be back to normal soon." Cindy felt a wave of relief as she let out her breath. She was glad to find out that Misty would be fine.

Before they left, Dr Ally gave Cindy some advice. She told her to keep Misty's cage clean. She also said to give Misty fresh vegetables and plenty of water every day. Cindy listened carefully and nodded.

At home, Cindy gave Misty the medicine and watched her rabbit take a nap. The next morning, she checked on her rabbit and smiled with relief when she saw it eating lettuce again.
