Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

Ryan was playing happily in the school playground with his best friend, Ethan. They took turns on the swing, laughing as the cool breeze brushed their faces. Suddenly, a phone rang nearby. The boys froze. Near the slide lay a black squarish handphone, its screen lighting up with each ring.

Ryan and Ethan exchanged uncertain looks. "Should we pick it up?" Ryan whispered. "What if someone's looking for it?" Ethan asked, glancing around as if the owner might appear any moment. Anxiously, they stepped closer but stopped when the ringing abruptly ended. Unsure, Ryan walked off to play on the bars while Ethan sat nearby, still eyeing the phone.

Minutes later, Ryan noticed Ethan's quiet face and felt a twinge of guilt. "Someone must be worried," he murmured. Determined now, he ran back, picked up the phone carefully, and said he would find its owner. Ethan grinned and gave him a thumbs-up.

At home, Ryan told his mother everything. Together, they waited for the phone to ring again. As silence filled the room, Ryan began to regret not picking it up earlier. Then, the phone rang. Ryan's heart raced as he answered. A grateful voice thanked him warmly. The owner offered a reward, but Ryan said gently, "I just wanted to do what's right." Ryan's mother looked on approvingly.
