Last Monday, Adam woke up early to go to school. He wanted to take the MRT train with his father instead of taking the school bus. Adam gobbled down the breakfast that his father had made for him. Then, they walked to the train station together.

When Adam and his father reached the train station, they were surprised to see a huge crowd of passengers. Soon, they found out that one of the trains had broken down and it arrived late at the station. When Adam and his father saw many train station staff on duty directing the passengers, they quickly joined the queue to enter the train platform. Some passengers were annoyed while others were confused because of the delay.

While waiting in the queue with his father, Adam noticed an elderly man looking pale and frail. The elderly man was standing unsteadily at the end of the queue with a little girl. Suddenly, he became giddy and fell to the ground. "Help! My grandfather is not feeling well!" cried the little girl desperately.

Immediately, Adam's father sprinted towards the elderly man and attended to him. The elderly man groaned and asked for water. Adam quickly handed him a bottle of water and the man took sips from it.

By then, the ambulance that Adam had called for arrived. Mr Raja, a train station staff, helped to disperse the crowd that had gathered. While the paramedics attended to the elderly man, Adam comforted the sobbing little girl. Before the little girl left for the hospital with her grandfather, she thanked Adam and his father for their help. Adam smiled. That day, Adam went to school happily, knowing that he had helped someone in need.
